Hokkaido Museum of Modern Art

The preparatory office for the Hokkaido Museum of Modern Art first came into being in 1973. The museum itself was officially opened in July, 1977, near the center of Sapporo City. Taking both the indigenous art of Hokkaido and worldwide art movements into consideration, while at the same time organizing a wide variety of exhibitions. It has also continuously provided educational projects and information services for local communities. By being an open museum and actively contributing to the cultural development of the region, the museum intends to become a cultural center in Hokkaido.

Museum Collection

Works from the museum's collection are on display in the Gallery A on the first and second floors. The rooms are changed four or five times a year with themes chosen from various aspects of art and history.

The collection consists of works by Jules Pascin and his contemporaries in the École de Paris active during the 1920-30s; glassworks from Art Nouveau to contemporary pieces, both inside and outside Japan; works by artists closely related to Hokkaido; Optical Art and other contemporary trends.

Special Exhibitions

Special Exhibitions introducing outstanding work from both Japan and other countries, from various ages and genres, are regularly organized. Also, during the winter holiday season, a series of programs for children called "Winter Wonder Museum" is held, which adults will find entertaining as well.
